

Speaker, Coach, and Entrepreneur

Over the past 20 years, Brian Marsh has coached thousands of high achievers, breakthrough uncertainty, overcome limiting beliefs, and achieve their goals. Helping people discover their potential and step into their purpose has been Brian's life's work.

As a successful high-achiever, Brian himself once silently struggled with internal turmoil, anxiety, hopelessness, and a profound sense of loss of control in both his career and life. However, Brian overcame procrastination, gained clarity on his values, and was able to achieve higher levels of success. As the Regional Vice President of Nationwide Financial, Brian is a multiple six-figure executive and one of the top 2% income earners in the world. THE POWER OF PURPOSE

We are great at creating the perception of success. But, most of us go through life "dressed up" but feel "messed up" on the inside. Brian was once trapped in that toxic, unfulfilling cycle. Instead of addressing the root cause of his struggles, he constantly searched for quick-fix solutions which failed every time leaving him even more disappointed and empty. Until he discovered the Power of Purpose. In his captivating and interactive talk, Brian speaks about the power of clarity, discovering one's values, and one's purpose in life.

CONQUERING PROCRASTINATION: 3 STEPS TO BREAK FREE OF THE CYCLE

There is a misconception in the world that procrastinators are lazy or unmotivated. That is not true. Research shows that very few people who are "serial procrastinators" are actually lazy or unmotivated. Rather, they are hindered by one of the three root causes of procrastination. Until or unless the root cause of your procrastination is identified and appropriately "dug up," we will continue to read books and listen to motivational teachings and you will continue to live in the land of "I want to but I can't." Brian's interactive presentation has helped thousands discover renewed sense of hope, happiness, and a zest for life, regaining control of their future.
